

The Blue Ship

At the Tip-end of Colorful Old T Wharf
Overlooking Historic Boston Harbor

Here the British arrived and here the British evacuated on March 17, 1776.

Engraved, Printed, and Sold by Paul Revere

1708 - 1713 - 1722 - 1729 - 1749

The First Major Construction in Boston was the Great Plan of 1708 — Long Wharf (Aristocrats) - T Wharf (Plutocrats) - and the Lanes (Horses).

T Wharf became the Cradle of American Business Enterprise and the world's greatest Fish Pier until 1914. When the diesel motor came in, the Sailmaking in these lofts stopped and what remained of the fish business was transferred to a new Fish Pier built in 1914 in South Boston.

The next major Construction in 1713 was The Old State House. In 1722, Old North Church — in 1729, Old South Meeting House — in 1749, King's Chapel (the first Granite Building) — all still standing.
